

Plowing New Ground

A celebration was held on May 28 to literally turn the ground to begin building the new healthcare center, which is part of some major changes on campus. Using a plow pulled by two horses, president Ed Longenecker, board chair Glen Hostetler and former administrator George Leaman were the first ones to break ground.

Others, who had worked on the capital campaign as well as staff and residents, also took turns with their hands to the plow. Since the 100-acre campus had originally been a farm, the Landis Homes administrators felt this was an appropriate means of honoring that history.

"The horses also represent how we had to pull together to get the project going," said Vice President Linford Good. "It celebrates that we are located in the midst of a farmland preserve."

The new healthcare center will replace the current center, which is 33-years old, and was designed like a hospital with small semi-private and four-person rooms. The new center will consist of private rooms and neighborhood community areas for dining and for activities. It will also allow for more than 600 square feet of living space per resident, which doubles the living space of the current center.

"This new concept is beginning to change the design of nursing care in retirement communities nationwide," says Greg Scott of the architectural firm Reese, Lower, Patrick & Scott, Lancaster, who is the partner in charge for the new center. "Landis Homes is interested in creating more space, which is less institutional and more communal."

Rather than demolish the current nursing center structure, plans are for it to be renovated and turned into centralized office space and expanded dining services. The total cost of the project is nearly $12 million with a fundraising campaign underway to raise at least $2 million. The campaign has raised $1.5 million which is 75% of the goal.

"This is wonderful", said George Leaman, who at the groundbreaking was just shy of his 96th birthday. "I am so glad to be a part of it."

Leader of the Year

Ed Longenecker holds the Leader of the Year award he received at the PANPHA annual meeting.

Ed Longenecker, President of Landis Homes, was named Leader of the Year by PANPHA, on May 15 at its annual meeting in Pittsburgh. PANPHA is an association of over 350 Pennsylvania non-profit senior service providers.

The award is part of PANPHA's Distinguished Service Awards program, which was created to honor those special individual and group efforts that exceed the already high standard of commitment and service that is common among PANPHA members. This is the first year they presented an award in the leadership category.

In presenting the award, PANPHA board chairperson David Powell said, "Longenecker's defining legacy is a blend of compassion for human need with progressive organizational leadership. Throughout his 25-year tenure, Ed has created throughout Landis Homes a clear sense of corporate identity, community and service. Under his leadership, the facility expanded from 200 residents to 660; established two adult day centers, a dementia care program, and an active resident council; and opened a development office. In 1997, Ed rode his bike across the country to raise funds for the Heritage Special Care Center — just one example of how he consistently goes above and beyond the call of duty! By respecting and valuing employees, Ed has also fostered within Landis Homes an environment where turnover is low and long tenures are common. For his gentle and effective leadership and commitment to service, PANPHA is pleased to honor Edward Longenecker as Leader of the Year."

This year Ed, along with his wife, Rhoda, plans to again go above and beyond the call of duty by riding his bike from Maine to Florida to raise funds for the new Healthcare Center. See the story on the facing page to learn more about the bike trip.

Cycling to Serve

MAINE TO FLORIDA

What has two wheels, two seats, two sets of handlebars, a combined age of 120 years and a combined service to Landis Homes of 45 years? There can only be one answer to that question and that is a tandem bicycle with two riders, Ed and Rhoda Longenecker. The Longeneckers are planning a 2500-mile east coast journey to help raise funds for the new healthcare center at Landis Homes. They will begin traveling in late September, leaving from Bar Harbor, Maine, and finishing their journey in Sarasota, Florida, more than four weeks later.

Ed and Rhoda, who are planning their route themselves, will be riding alone or with a few selected friends most of that time.

Jerry and Ethel Shenk will join them from the beginning of their trip to Pennsylvania. On October 10, they plan to ride through the Landis Homes campus, where residents, staff and board members will hold a celebration in their honor.

This is a significant year for Ed and Rhoda in several ways.

This is a significant year for Ed and Rhoda in several ways. Each of them has turned 60 years old. Ed who has completed 25 years of employment, has been the Landis Homes administrator and now president. Rhoda has worked part-time as an LPN for 20 of the last 25 years. Much of her work has taken place in the current nursing center, which was built 33 years ago. Their joint efforts will help build the replacement center for 52 healthcare residents.

The financial goal of the bike trip is to raise at least $150,000. If that goal is exceeded to $200,000, it would fully fund the naming of the new Rehabilitation & Fitness Center. For more information or to join the campaign, contact the Development Office, 717-509-5490.

Clean Air Cup Winners Bike to Work

Landis Homes staff competed in June in the national Bike to Work week winning the Clean Air Cup for the Lancaster area business with the greatest participation. Pfizer, Inc sponsored the local competition. Pictured with the trophy are front: Shari Weaver of Pfizer, Inc., Landis Homes employee, Jim Bailey. Back row: Stu Landis of Landis Homes, Ann Hess, a Pfizer, Inc. fitness center employee, and Ellen Oberholtzer of Landis Homes.

Hollinger Print Honored by PANPHA

A painting by former Landis Homes resident, Dorothy Hollinger, was selected for the senior artist's collection to be permanently displayed in the new building for PANPHA, an association of Pennsylvania non-profit senior services providers. A print of her oil painting The Amish Homestead is one of 35 pieces chosen from among 88 works submitted by senior artists from all across the state. The Senior Artists Awards Ceremony was held at the new building in Mechanicsburg, PA. celebrating its first anniversary with an Open House on June 13, 2002.

A long-time artist and art teacher, Hollinger was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease at the age of 63 years old in 1994, the same year she completed the chosen work. The Amish Homestead was one of the last pieces she completed prior to her death in April 2001.

Only 50 numbered prints of The Amish Homestead remain available for purchase by contacting the Landis Homes Development Office at 717-509-5490, or by e-mail to Cathy Yoder at cathy@landishomes.org. Proceeds of the print sales go to The Heritage Gift Fund, established to enhance the quality of care for persons with memory loss, by expanding the therapeutic art and music programs in the special care center.

Road Rally

Maintenance staff person Gerald Weinhold and resident Elsie Martin, pictured right, attended the Road Rally & Rodeo in June. Eighty-eight residents came out for the event, which was for persons who owned motorized scooters or wheelchairs, or had interest in finding out about them. There was an obstacle course, a "service station," and a collection of products to view and try out. A raffle was held for a motorized recliner, which was won by Grace Graybill.

Life Stories

Celebrations were held in May for persons who had completed the nine-month program in preserving Life Stories class. Present at the celebration are seated from left: Lois Brubaker, Mary Kathryn Todd, Emma Zeiset, Instructor Joanne Hess Siegrist, Anna Groff, Rheta Cohen Stacy. Standing: J. Lester Brubaker, Elta Nissley, Mary Ellen Groff, Grace Martin, Esther Landis, Jean Hoover, Erla Martin, Lois Wenger, Mary Ann Harpst, Carol Makofka, Mary Ann Zucconi. This year's participants came from Akron, Conestoga, Denver, East Earl, Ephrata, Gap, Jonestown, Kinzers, Lebanon, Lititz, Lancaster, Manheim, Narvon, New Holland, Smoketown, Spring Grove, Stevens, Strasburg, Wrightsville and Chambersburg. The first session of the 2002-03 class will meet on Thursday, September 5, 2002 at Landis Homes. For more information call Joanne Hess Siegrist at 717-656-6429.

Spirit Winners for Second Year

Thirty-two Landis Homes residents participated in 27 events at the Lancaster County Senior Games held at various locations throughout the area. They participated in a variety of activities, including home-run derby, yoga, walking, bocce, shuffleboard, ping-pong and billiards.

Cheers, noisemakers, party hats and pom-poms were on display and shared with other participants throughout the week. This was part of the reason Landis Homes as a team received the Spirit Award for a second year in a row. This award is given to the group that shows the most spirit and good sportsmanship. From the parade at the opening ceremonies on Monday to the closing celebration on Friday, the Landis Homes team demonstrated how competing and having fun could co-exist.

“The excitement was contagious; they were sharing their noisemakers with anyone near them and getting others involved in the fun,” said Landis Homes Fitness Coordinator Melanie Mascarenas. “I couldn’t be more proud!”

This year the team was made up of residents from both independent living and assisted living. “The team unity was stronger than ever,” said Melanie.

On the bus on the way home from the closing ceremonies the first question to Melanie was, “So what are we going to do next year?”

“My hope is that our team continues to grow as people come to the understanding that it is a week of fun and fellowship, a time to make new friends and bump into old friends,” said Melanie. “There is something for everyone! Limitations are only in the mind!”

Student Artwork Selected for 2002

Landis Homes announced the Art Student Award winner for 2002. Ashleigh Clark, a 2002 Lancaster Mennonite High School graduate, was chosen for her mat board relief entitled “Heidelberg.” It is a colorful three-dimensional representation based on a photograph of a city skyline Clark took on a visit to Germany in 2000.

In return for the artwork, Landis Homes made contributions to the Lancaster Mennonite School art department and to Clark to further her education. Clark lives and is working this summer on her family’s 400-head dairy farm in Quarryville. She plans to begin a year in Christian service this fall on a hospital ship before going on to further her education. At that time she would like to major in medical studies and to continue her artwork as a minor course of study.

Each year Landis Homes selects a piece of artwork from the Lancaster Mennonite High School Spring Fine Arts Festival to become part of a permanent collection on the retirement community campus. A jury of four, representing Landis Homes residents and board, and the Lancaster Mennonite art department chose the winning work.

Ashleigh Clark presents her winning artwork to residents Miriam Housman and Rachel Fisher who helped make the selection for the retirement community’s art collection.
